

If you are worried to what extent you and your family's health is being affected by geopathic stress, cordless phones, Wi-Fi, mobile phone masts and more: this is the place to come. This course is the first of its kind in this country. It deals principally with geobiology and building biology which together encompass the science of specific location and disease. It is a day that will explain in practical terms how your home or office space can affect your health in matters of geopathic stress and modern electromagnetic pollution. This course will show you how to identify these energies in your homes, where it's coming from, and what you can do to change things back to a healthy environment.

Roy Riggs has a degree in Environmental Science and has completed post graduate research abroad in both geobiology and building biology. He is an accredited Electromagnetic Field Consultant and Professional Dowser who carries out field investigations in both geopathic and electromagnetic energies within the UK and abroad. He is also a guest lecturer on the subject of geobiology at London Westminster University (Department of Integrative medicine) The Royal Homoeopathic Hospital London, The British College of Osteopathic Medicine and Foresight – [The Association for the Promotion of Preconception care.]

International Institute of Building Biology and Ecology

This introduction is intended for those interested in science-based developments in geopathic stress and how to measure electromagnetic pollution in their homes or office. The course offers a verified method of measuring EMF issues and how to implement verifiable changes to regain a harmonious and healthy living space whilst still living and operating within a high technological environment. This introduction to Technopathic & Geopathic Stress will hopefully encourage candidates to take more professional certificated courses in building biology.

MINI CV

Roy Riggs first studied arboriculture at Newton Riggs Agricultural College Cumbria and spent his early life as a forester. At the age of 30 he joined Cheshire Constabulary serving as a rural beat officer for 8 years then transferred to the London Metropolitan Police where he served a further 17 years mainly as a permanent beat officer in the heart of London's Red Light Soho district. During his police service he studied Environmental Science at the Open University and in December 1998 obtained his B.Sc degree. Roy retired from the police after serving 25 years to undertake further studies in the field of dowsing and geobiology in Germany with biophysicist Dr. Luger Mersmann and Adolf Packeiser a graduate from the Institute for Research in Geobiology. The International Institute for Building Biology and Ecology also certifies Roy as an electromagnetic energy consultant. Roy is also a professional Earth Energy dowser and has had articles published in both the Namaste magazine, The British Society of Dowsters quarterly journal and the Institute of Geology and Geography Vilnius University Lithuania.

Roy continues to commit himself to the study and health consequences of both natural and manmade electromagnetic environments. He has been a guest speaker at; London Westminster University's School of Integrative Medicine, The British College of Osteopathic Medicine, The Royal Homeopathic Hospital London, Foresight- (The Association of Preconception Care), The British Society of Dowsters, Earth Energy International Seminar Vilnius, EMF International Conference Bolney, Arnica-Women's Health Conference Kingston and has been elected as a member of Earth Energy Science Committee for The Baltic Dowser's Association Lithuania.

Roy has been working professionally since 2004 as a consultant and has so far visited and measures EMF and geopathic energy issues in 1028 houses throughout the UK, Europe, Saudi Arabia, South Africa and the USA.
